Castlefield Gallery has supported the professional careers of artists and curators through exhibition presentation, interpretation, production and research since 1984. Since relocating into new premises in 2002, the gallery has developed into one of the leading artist-led spaces in the UK, with a host of programmes including Project Space for emerging generations to develop new work and professional skills, Purescreen a unique screening programme and DVD for artists' film and video, plus online resources for artists including www.castlefieldgallery.co.uk, and Opportunities via www.a-n.co.uk in association with The Artists Information Company. Castlefield Gallery also launches a visual arts listings website www.theartguide.co.uk to support the contemporary art market in the North West in November 2005, as one of their many strategic roles within this region.
